Helena Sewell depicted Ma and Pa in the 1935 edition of Lost People.

The Kansas people looked like a good place to settle, but it was Indian country. The Osage tribes wanted that western land and drove them away and moved upon their hunting grounds. All her life, Laura recalled the Indians who chased in the winter. They feared themselves with whether to drive away the winter. Then Pa heard that the United States Army was riding in drive off the winter from the Indian domain. A letter arrived from Wisconsin, stating that the man who had chased the Peoria farm could not pay for it. Pa and Ma decided to take possession of their old home again. They decided to leave Kansas.

to put up some kind of shelter there and claim a parcel of land. Pa drove the wagon past the town and out farther onto the prairie until he found a piece of land that seemed just right. There was a creek flowing through it, and the trees that grew along the creek could provide logs for building and for firewood. More important to Pa, there were wide-open fields of prairie grass with no big trees to cut down or plow around.

Right away, Pa "claimed" the land by building a house on it. There was a lot to do to turn the new land into a home and a farm. With the help of neighbors, Pa first built a small one-room log cabin, and then he built a big barn for the horses. Afterward he dug a deep well near the cabin so the family would have fresh water to drink. Then he plowed through the thick prairie grass to make fields for the spring crops.

Life was not always easy on the prairie for the Ingalls. They had to fight prairie fires and sickness. The whole family was struck with "fever 'n' ague," which we know today is malaria. The mosquitoes that thrived along the creeks nearby carried the disease. Fortunately, a doctor who lived on the prairie was able to treat them. His name was Dr. George Tamm, and he worked among the Osage Indians who lived by the creeks and rivers near the little house, and who owned the land the Ingalls family lived on.

Despite these difficulties, Laura and her family liked living on the prairie.

Minnehaha Springs School

The first school at Minnehaha Springs (known as Detached) was taught in a dwelling on the bank above the warm spring. H. M. Lockridge and Mrs. W. L. Harold were the teachers; this was between 1880 and 1885. The next school was near the Dever residence. A one-room building was erected at the Springs about 1900. In 1915 a two-room structure was erected by W. L. Harold.

Other teachers who taught at Minnehaha Springs School were:

Vesta Sharp (Seville)
Clara Palmer Wade (Seville)
Maynard Dilley
Eva B. McCarty

Others who worked at the Minnehaha Springs School were: Maude Wadless, Virginia Buzzard

(This is not a complete list - you may know of others who taught or worked at the Minnehaha Springs School.)

The Minnehaha Springs School closed in 1955.

Teacher's Prayer

I want to teach my students how ~ To live this life on earth ~
To face its struggles and its strife ~ And to improve their world ~
Not just the lesson in a book ~ Or how the rivers flow ~
But how to choose the proper path ~ Wherever they may go ~
To understand eternal truth ~ And know the right from wrong ~
And gather all the beauty of ~ A flower and a song ~
For if I help the world to grow ~ In wisdom and in grace ~
Then I shall feel that I have won ~ And I have filled my place ~
And so I ask your guidance, God ~ That I may do my part ~
For character and confidence ~ And happiness of heart ~

Always replace the Tabled in the envelope and keep envelopes stacked until again used.

Give constant attention to position of body, arms and feet.

Hold the pen loosely, as shown in the cut.

Write the copy, all the copy, nothing but the copy.

Do your best. Do it every time. Practice makes perfect.

Remember that good penmanship is a recommendation.

MEN OF VIRGINIA, TO THE RESCUE !

Your soil has been invaded by your Abolition foes, and we call upon you to rally at once, and drive them back. We want Volunteers to march immediately to Grafton and report for duty. Come one ! Come ALL ! and render the service due to your State and Country. Fly to arms, and succour your brave brothers who are now in the field.

The volunteers from the counties of Pendleton, Highland, Bath, Allegheny, Monroe, Mercer, and other counties surrounding us will immediately merge and report at Monterey in Highland County where they will join the companies from the valley marching to Grafton. The volunteers from the counties of Hardy, Hampshire, Randolph, Pocahontas, Greencastle and other counties will in this manner merge at Beverly. And the volunteers from the counties of Upshur, Lewis, Barbour and other counties will report at Phillips in Barbour County. The volunteers as soon as they report at the above points, will be furnished with arms, rations, etc, etc.

Action ! Action ! should be our rallying motto, and the sentiment of Virginia's inspired Orator, "Give me Liberty or give me Death," animate every loyal son of the Old Dominion! Let us drive back the invading foot of a brutal and desperate foe, or leave a record to posterity that we died bravely defending our homes and firesides—the honor of our wives and daughters—and the sacred graves of our ancestors!

A Bit of History

Huntersville was established in 1821 to 1891 and was named for the hunters and trappers who congregated here at the first trading post in the area. It was the first county seat for Hot Pocahontas County with the first court being held in 1822. Prominent people traveled for Hot Springs and other areas of Virginia to have court in Pocahontas County, Virginia. People wrote about staying in a crude cabin belonging to John Bradshaw while court was in session for the week. Huntersville grew to have hotels, a new courthouse, jail, stables, a ballroom, stores and many homes. During the Civil War times, the town was ravaged and some churches and homes became hospitals for soldiers. Huntersville became a town in the newly formed State of West Virginia.

The Methodist Church of Huntersville is noted for its gothic design and was built in 1886. The Huntersville Schoolhouse was built in 1880 and was one of the last two room schoolhouses to close around 1968.

The Huntersville Courthouse was built around 1822. All that remains of the first county seat is a clerk's office from one end. A jail was built to accommodate the courthouse and later the bars in the windows were used to make horseshoes for civil war soldiers. A second jail (the Huntersville Jail) was built in 1883 and was used about ten years before the county seat moved to Marlinton.

It was built out of hard, white medina Sandstone.

The Huntersville Presbyterian Church was built in 1854 and played an important role in the civil war being used as a hospital and headquarters by soldiers.

Huntersville - The First County Seat

Huntersville was the first county seat of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. It was founded in 1752 by James Oglethorpe, a prominent merchant and politician. The town was named in honor of the Hunter family, who were prominent in the area. Huntersville was the center of commerce and industry in the region for many years. It was the site of the first cotton gin, the first sawmill, and the first ironworks in the area. The town was also the site of the first public school and the first church in the area. Huntersville was the first county seat of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, and it remained so until 1842, when the county seat was moved to Charlotte.

Huntersville Jail

WELCOME! Come in for a tour and place your feet on the same ground of the inmates of the 1800's.

In 1824, a new jail was built to accommodate the holding of court in the newly built courthouse in what was then Bath County, Virginia. This jail holds many stories and inmates of the past have reduced their feelings to writings on the walls - One of these being: "There is a land of pure delight, where saints immortal reign, there is a haven for black and white, but Hell's in this old jail" One inmate, around 1834, who was being housed on a charge of robbery, broke through the wall and escaped. During the civil war around 1863, a lieutenant colonel requested that the iron from the walls of the jail be purchased to make horseshoes for the Cavalry under his command. The iron from the jail was removed for such and the remainder sold to citizens of the county. For lack of security, a new jail was requested built around 1881 but was not completed until 1884. Hard, white Medina sandstone was used in the construction. By 1891, the town of Marlinton was formed from "Marlin's Bottom" and the citizens of the county moved the county seat to Marlinton and this jail, no longer being used and being preserved by the Pocahontas Historical Society, is a monument to the past and a fun place to visit, still holding the stories of the inmates of the 1800's.
